Transient G0 is a reversible, time-varying state — the CDK-inhibitor level fluctuates across divisions, so MB cells divide, pause in G0, and re-enter